ALMS/Barcode Order Form

Address List Management System (ALMS) is a mailing list management program comprised of the following components: 1) the ALMS software module used to access the USPS Address File database—a database of all postal facilities and major positions within the USPS, 2) a feature that will enable the user to create personal files, and 3) the USPS Barcode module, which is used to address and pre-barcode mailpieces.

USPS Address File contains addresses, phone numbers, finance numbers, and other information for all postal facilities. The file also contains major titled positions in headquarters, area, and district offices. In addition, the USPS Address File is available for use independent of the ALMS software on magnetic tape.

USPS Barcode is a software program that allows the generation of pre-barcode addresses on a variety of forms. Custom form designs can be produced to allow addressing and pre-barcoding in many formats. USPS Barcode allows printing of pre-barcode addresses through either manual entry or by reading data from other software packages that can produce a fixed-length ASCII file. USPS Barcode has been CASS-certified by the USPS as a delivery point utility program. In addition, USPS Barcode software is available as a standalone module for use independent of the ALMS software.
